OVERVIEW

The Client is focused on building multi-Cloud aware management software.

PROBLEM

The Client is a technology company focused on building next generation Cloud Management Software. The Client required a specific subject matter expertise on the Microsoft Cloud and Management stack to assist with completing the technology using experts to ensure the product would perform and work as planned.

SOLUTION

FyrSoft and the Client worked to understand the underlying product requirements, features, and objectives for a multi release development cycle. The Client was using an aggressive Agile development model in order to get to market as quick as possible.

FyrSoft and the Client laid out multiple Sprint cycles that would provide the required feature set for the Cloud Management product of the Microsoft Cloud products as anticipated.

The product development provided an advanced set of features allowing the Client to get to market before the competition and provide full Microsoft Cloud and Infrastructure support well before they originally anticipated without FyrSoft's assistance.
